For Immediate Release

Attorney Anne Collins Joins the Lozano Smith Law Firm

Lozano Smith is pleased to announce that attorney Anne Collins has joined the firm. Collins joins the Sacramento office as an associate.

Collins is an experienced litigator, managing complex litigation for school districts and other public agencies in facilities and business matters and civil litigation. Her experience includes successfully handling cases on appeal.

“Anne is a tough litigator with the ability to navigate the complex, and often delicate, aspects of education cases,” said Andrew Garcia, Executive Director of Lozano Smith. “She adds further depth to our already deep bench of litigation attorneys.”

Collins received her law degree from the University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana.

About the Firm

Established in 1988, Lozano Smith is a full-service education and public agency law firm serving hundreds of California’s K-12 and community college districts, universities, and numerous cities, counties, and special districts. The firm’s expertise includes personnel matters, labor relations, real property and construction matters, constitutional issues, special education, student discipline, school funding, charter schools, bond elections, governance and litigation in all areas of representation. Lozano Smith has offices in Fresno, Los Angeles, Monterey, Sacramento, Santa Rosa, Redding and Walnut Creek. More information is available at
